

THE STATE OF GUN VIOLENCE IN CALIFORNIA

Despite strong gun safety laws and a low gun death rate compared to other states, over 3,000 Californians are killed by a gun each year. State lawmakers must continue to enact proactive gun safety measures.

GUN SUICIDE

- More than half of all gun deaths in California are suicides, and nearly 40% of all suicide deaths in California involve firearms.
- From 2013 to 2017, 7,917 people in California died by gun-related suicide. That's one every 6 hours.

URBAN GUN VIOLENCE

- Gun violence has a disproportionate impact on urban communities of color.
- Black men make up less than 4% of California's population, but account for nearly 31% of the state's gun homicide victims.
- In California, black men ages 18–24 are more than 18 times more likely than white men the same age to be murdered with a gun.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

- Guns make domestic violence incidents far more likely to end in death.
- Nearly 50% of California's intimate partner homicides involve a gun.
- From 2007 to 2016, 572 women were killed with a gun by their intimate partner in California.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND GUNS

- Exposure to gun violence can cause lasting trauma in young people, leading to PTSD, chronic stress, and decreased future earnings.
- From 2013 to 2017, 3,278 people under age 25 were killed with a gun in California.
- Guns are the third-leading cause of death for California children ages 1–17.

PROVEN SOLUTIONS TO PREVENT GUN VIOLENCE IN CALIFORNIA

California has the strongest gun laws in the United States and was one of the first states in the nation to enact an extreme risk protection order law. The state has the seventh-lowest gun death rate in the country and the fifth-lowest crime gun export rate. To further strengthen its gun laws, California could increase funding to community violence prevention programs and address the ways some residents manage to skirt existing gun regulations. Learn more about California's gun laws at lawcenter.giffords.org/CA.
