Community Violence Intervention and Prevention Program (CVIPI)	DOJ	OJP is seeking applications that propose to introduce evidence-informed CVI strategies in communities as well as applications that propose expanded or innovative CVI approaches. "Evidence-informed" indicates a practice backed by evidence from research and evaluation, case studies, expert opinions, or documented lessons learned from the field. This evidence may be applicable to the practice itself or the community violence problem that the practice is intended to address. An "expanded approach" proposes a new modification to or an increase in the reach of an existing CVI strategy or response, whereas an "innovative approach" is one that has not been implemented previously in any jurisdiction. In all cases, OJP strongly encourages the development of practitioner–researcher partnerships that use data and evidence to create strategies, target services, and assess program performance on an ongoing basis to ensure that programs are implemented as intended, effective, and economical. Projects funded under this initiative are expected to contribute to the body of knowledge on effective CVI practices and programs.	Nonprofits with or without 501(c)(3) status with the IRS, other than institutions of higher education, For-profit organizations including small businesses, Native American and Alaska Native tribal organizations (other than Federally recognized tribal governments), City or township governments, County governments, Native American and Alaska Native tribal governments (Federally recognized), Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act ("ANCSA") Regional Corporations Special District governments Public housing authorities/Indian housing authorities Independent School Districts, Public and State controlled institutions of higher education Private institutions of higher education.	Applications from communities with documented high and/or increasing levels of homicides per capita. Applicants should include documentation in the proposal narrative. 3. Applicants that can demonstrate existing partnerships with multidisciplinary team stakeholder members (i.e., letters of commitment and/or MOU) will receive priority consideration. Applicants proposing a companion evaluation application under the NIJ solicitation "Evaluations of OJP Community Based Violence Intervention and Prevention Initiative (CVIPI) Programs, Fiscal Year 2022."	$100 million	Open April 19, 2022; Applications Due June 21, 2022	https://bja.ojp.gov/funding/O-BJA-2022-171282.pdf
NIJ FY22 Evaluation of OJP Community Based Violence Intervention and Prevention Initiative (CVIPI) Projects	DOJ	With this solicitation, NIJ seeks proposals for rigorous, independent evaluations of the outcome and impact of projects funded under the FY 2022 OJP Community Based Violence Intervention and Prevention Initiative solicitation (hereafter, the OJP solicitation). Such evaluations are also expected to examine questions regarding program implementation (e.g., process evaluation).[1] To be considered under this solicitation, an applicant must collaborate with an entity applying to the OJP solicitation and clearly document that collaboration with a signed memorandum of understanding or letter of support. NIJ will only consider applications addressing Categories 3 and 4 of the OJP solicitation. The knowledge gained through the conduct of these evaluations will build evidence as to the implementation and effectiveness of strategies designed to reduce violent crime using community-based interventions. This solicitation further supports the DOJ Comprehensive Strategy for Reducing Violent Crime. Second Chance Act Youth Reentry Program	DOJ	OJJDP envisions a nation where our children are free from crime and violence. If they come into contact with the justice system, the contact should be rare, fair, and beneficial to them. The Second Chance Act Youth Reentry Program encourages collaboration between state agencies, local government, and community- and faith-based organizations to address the reentry and recidivism reduction challenges posed for youth who are returning to their communities from juvenile residential or correctional facilities. Grantees and participating jurisdictions under Categories 1 and 2 of this award will be required to refine and implement new or improved collaborative strategies that address individual youth's criminogenic and noncriminogenic needs as determined through the application of validated risk and needs assessment instruments. This program also supports training and technical assistance under Categories 3 and 4 to help local jurisdictions improve community supervision practices for youth who are placed on probation or are being released from secure confinement, and to support local jurisdictions to strengthen their capacity to collect and analyze data, measure performance, make data-informed decisions, and continuously improve their reentry programs, policies, and practices.	Category 1: Improving Youth Reentry State governments City or township governments County governments Native American governments (federally recognized). Category 2: Strengthening Community-Based Youth Reentry Programs Nonprofits having a 501(c)(3) status with the IRS, other than institutions of higher education Nonprofits that do not have a 501(c)(3) status with the IRS, other than institutions of higher education Native American organizations (other than federally recognized governments). NIH Firearm Injury and Mortality Prevention Research	HHS	Research encouraged by this FOA is consistent with a broad public health approach to firearm injury and mortality prevention including: 1) identifying those at risk for firearm injury and mortality (both victims and perpetrators); 2) development and initial piloting of theoretically-grounded programs to prevent firearm injury and mortality; and 3) implementation research to explore the barriers and facilitators to support broader adoption of effective programs. In addition to interventions delivered by healthcare providers and systems, this initiative encourages research delivered in community settings, and that integrates individual, family, interpersonal, community, and structural or system (e.g., criminal or juvenile justice, child welfare, drug courts) approaches to firearm injury and mortality prevention. Thus, development of cross-sector partnerships and/or integration across disparate databases may be necessary. Rigorous Evaluation of Community-Centered Approaches for the Prevention of Community Violence	HHS	The purpose of this announcement is to fund rigorous evaluation research projects that will expand the evidence base of proven prevention approaches for those most at risk of experiencing community violence, including youth, racial and ethnic minority groups, and disadvantaged or underserved groups. Research will evaluate community-centered prevention approaches implemented or planned for implementation in communities to reduce community violence victimization or perpetration, including severe forms of violence such as homicides, firearm related violence, and violence-related hospitalizations. Community-centered approaches are programs, policies, or practices that include and prioritize community members as key producers of knowledge, designating the community as an important decision-maker.	County governments, City or township governments, State governments, Independent school districts) Public and State controlled institutions of higher education, Native American tribal governments, Public housing authorities, Nonprofits with or without 501(c)(3) status, private institutions of higher education, private businesses	Applicants must propose to evaluate a community violence prevention approach that is currently implemented or planned for implementation in a proposed community(ies). Applicants must evaluate an approach from one of two categories: (1) evidence-based prevention approaches that are substantially different from the original approach, evaluate key implementation factors that might drive the program effectiveness, or examine additional community violence outcomes that have not been evaluated; or an innovative prevention approach that has never undergone a rigorous evaluation. (2) an innovative prevention approach that has never undergone a rigorous evaluation. Research may include evaluations of existing approaches implemented or planned to be implemented in communities through DVP's PREVAYL NOFO or other federal initiatives including the White House Community Violence Intervention Collaborative.	$6,050,000 in FY 2022 to fund up to eleven (11) applications. CDC Research Grants to Prevent Firearm-Related Violence and Injuries	HHS	Research funded under this Notice of Funding Opportunity (NOFO) is intended to directly improve understanding of firearm-related violence and promising prevention approaches by supporting activities under one or both of the following two Research Objectives: Objective One: Research to improve understanding of firearm injury and inform the development of innovative and promising prevention strategies. Objective Two: Research to rigorously evaluate the effectiveness of innovative and promising strategies to keep individuals, families, schools, and communities safe from firearm-related injuries, deaths, and crime. Investigations under Objective Two: can include, for example, research to identify: Effective strategies addressing a range of individual, peer/family, community and societal risk and protective factors, including strategies that address social and structural conditions that contribute to racial/ethnic inequities in risk for firearm violence.	Public housing authorities/Indian housing authorities	(1) evidence-based prevention approaches that are significantly or substantially different from the original approach, evaluate key implementation factors that might drive the program effectiveness, or examine additional community violence outcomes that have not been evaluated previously; or	$11,000,000 in FY 2022 to fund up to twenty-five (25) applications	Open November 8, 2021; Applications Due February 4, 2022	https://www.grants.gov/web/grants/view-opportunity.html?oppld=335599
Resiliency in Communities After Stress and Trauma (ReCAST)	HHS	The purpose of this program is to promote resilience, trauma-informed approaches, and equity in communities that have recently faced civil unrest, community violence, and/or collective trauma within the past 24 months; and assist high-risk youth and families through the implementation of evidence-based violence prevention, and community youth engagement programs. SAMHSA expects ReCAST to be guided by a community-based coalition of residents, non-profit organizations, and other entities (e.g., health and human service providers, schools, institutions of higher education, faith-based organizations, businesses, state and local government, law enforcement, and employment, housing, and transportation services agencies).	Eligible entities are States, political subdivisions of States, local municipalities (e.g., counties, cities, and local governments), public or private non-profit community-based organizations, Indian tribes, or tribal organizations (as defined in section 5304 of title 25), that have faced civil unrest, community violence and/or collective trauma.	Communities that have experienced civil unrest share similar characteristics: Barriers to access, and/or lack of, social services, health care, legal representation, housing, employment, and education; Current and historic strains in community and public sector relationships, e.g., law enforcement, school, health, and/or housing and community relationships; and Racial/ethnic minority and marginalized populations with experiences of poverty and inequality. Community violence is defined as the exposure to intentional acts of interpersonal violence committed in public spaces by individuals who are not related to the victim. Growth Opportunities (Employment and Training Administration)	DOL	These grants focus on youth and young adults most impacted by community violence, particularly in areas of concentrated crime and poverty as well as communities that have recently experienced significant unrest. This program contributes to the Biden-Harris Administration's comprehensive strategy to combat gun violence and other violent crime, in part, with preventative measures that are proven to reduce violent crime and support public safety and community well-being. The goals of the grant are to: help youth and young adults to increase their conflict resolution skills and develop strategies to prevent and avoid violence; introduce and prepare youth for the world of work; help youth identify career interests, attain relevant skills and gain work experience; and provide income to youth, to start them on the path of earning living wages and obtaining high quality jobs and careers.	County governments, City or township governments, Special district governments, Regional government organization, Independent school districts, Indian/Native American tribal governments (Federally recognized), Nonprofits other than institutions of higher education having a 501(c)(3) status with the IRS, including union training funds, faith-based, women's, minority, and communitybased organizations	Please note that DOL evaluates applications on the need of the proposed service area (also referred to as "target area"). For the GO grant program, DOL considers not only the need for the services to participants in this area, but also the area's level of poverty and crime. Applicants must identify, and provide a written commitment from the following mandatory partners for this project: Violence Prevention or Intervention partner—defined as an individual or organization with significant experience in delivering culturally competent outreach to individuals with a high risk of committing violence (and/or becoming a victim) to interrupt the cycle of violence. Examples include: violence interrupters; hospital intervention programs; local clergy or faith-based organizations; and individuals or organizations with established violence-prevention programs.	$85,000,000	Application Due Date: Monday, July 25, 2022	https://www.dol.gov/sites/dolgov/files/ETA/grants/pdfs/FOA-ETA-22-03_.pdf
Workforce Pathways for Youth	DOL	These grants will place an emphasis on age-appropriate workforce readiness programming to expand job training and workforce pathways for youth, including soft skill development, career exploration, job readiness and certification, summer jobs, year-round job opportunities, and preapprenticeships and Registered Apprenticeships. Funding will also support partnerships between workforce development boards and youth-serving organizations.	The applicant must be a national OST non-profit (501 (c)(3)) organization that proposes to serve youth from communities that have been historically underserved and marginalized. This includes youth living in rural areas, Black, Latino, and Indigenous and Native American persons, Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders and other persons of color; members of religious minorities; lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer (LGBTQ+) persons; persons with disabilities; and persons otherwise adversely affected by persistent poverty or inequality; in addition to youth with barriers to employment including, but not limited to, foster youth, parenting youth, homeless youth, and youth with justice system involvement.	Youth living in rural areas, particularly youth of color and youth from low-income families, can experience unique barriers to education and career readiness opportunities and often need greater attention. Applicants that propose to serve predominately youth living in Page 21 of 48 rural areas, particularly youth of color or other marginalized rural youth populations, will receive 2 bonus points.	$10M in total funding, 5 awards	Open March 8, 2022; Applications due April 25th, 2022	https://www.dol.gov/sites/dolgov/files/ETA/grants/pdfs/FOA-ETA-22-07_.pdf

School-Based Mental Health Services Grant Program	DOE	The increases in mental health needs, including those resulting from traumatic events such as the Novel Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic, community violence, and adverse childhood experiences, have brought on challenges for children and youth that impact their overall emotional, psychological, and social well-being and their ability to fully engage in learning. The disruptions in routines, relationships, and the learning environment have led to increased stress and trauma, social isolation, and anxiety. The Department aims to help address these mental health needs and provide support to students, families, and schools by using the increased funds available from the FY 2022 Appropriations Act and the Bipartisan Safer Communities Act to dramatically increase the number of credentialed school-based mental health services providers in LEAs with demonstrated need through awards in FYs 2022-2026 under the SBMH grant program.	State Educational Entities (SEA), as defined in 20 U.S.C. 7801(49), or LEAs, as defined in 20 U.S.C. 7801 (30), including consortia of Local Educational Authorities (LEA).	The priorities for the FY 2022 competition, described further in this notice, are intended to accomplish this goal by increasing recruitment and retention-related incentives for school-based mental health services providers; promoting the respecialization and professional retraining of existing mental health services providers to qualify them for work in LEAs with demonstrated need (need is connected to levels of poverty based on a variety of metrics); and increasing the diversity, and cultural and linguistic competency, of school-based mental health services providers, including competency in providing identity-safe services.	$143,900,000 for 50-150 awards	Open October 4, 2022; Applications Due November 3, 2022	https://oese.ed.gov/files/2022/10/84_184H-SBMH-FY-22-NIA-FINAL.pdf

Mental Health Service Professional (MHSP) Demonstration Grant Program	DOE	The MHSP Program provides competitive grants to support and demonstrate innovative partnerships to train school-based mental health services providers for employment in schools and local educational agencies (LEAs). The goal of this program is to increase the number and diversity of high-quality, trained providers available to address the shortages of mental health service professionals in schools served by high-need LEAs. The partnerships must include (1) one or more high-need LEAs or a State educational agency (SEA) on behalf of one or more high-need LEAs and (2) one or more eligible institutions of higher education. Partnerships must provide opportunities to place postsecondary education graduate students in school-based mental health fields into high-need schools served by the participating high-need LEAs to complete required field work, credit hours, internships, or related training, as applicable, for the degree or credential program of each student. In addition to the placement of graduate students, grantees may also develop mental health career pathways as early as secondary school, through career and technical education opportunities, or through paraprofessional support degree programs at local community or technical colleges.	Eligible applicants for this program are high-need LEAs, SEAs on behalf of one or more high-need LEAs, and IHES. High-need LEA applicants and SEA applicants on behalf of one or more high-need LEAs must propose to work in partnership with an eligible institution of higher education (eligible IHE), which may include institutions that serve diverse learners such as an HBCU, TCU, or other Minority Serving Institution. Eligible IHE applicants must propose to work in partnership with one or more high-need LEAs or an SEA.	Competitive Preference Priority 1— Increase the Number of Qualified School-Based Mental Health Services Providers in High-Need LEAs Who Are From Diverse Backgrounds or From Communities Served by the High-Need LEAs. Priority 2: Projects that propose to provide evidence-based pedagogical practices in mental health services provider preparation programs or professional development programs that are inclusive with regard to race, ethnicity, culture, language, disability, and for students who identify as LGBTQ+, and that prepare school-based mental health services providers to create culturally and linguistically inclusive and identity-safe environments for students when providing services. Priority 3: Partnerships with HBCUs, Tribal Colleges and Universities, or other Minority Serving Institutions.	$143,000,000 for 150-250 grants	Open October 4, 2022; Applications Due November 3, 2022	https://www.federalregister.gov/documents/2022/10/04/2022-21632/applications-for-new-awards-mental-health-service-professional-demonstration-grant-program
Full-Service Community Schools (FSCS) Program	DOE	The Full-Service Community Schools (FSCS) program provides support for the planning, implementation, and operation of full-service community schools that improve the coordination, integration, accessibility, and effectiveness of services for children and families, particularly for children attending high-poverty schools, including high-poverty rural schools. The FSCS program was re-authorized under Title IV through Community Support for School Success, sections 4621-4623 and 4625 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, as amended by the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESEA).	Eligible entity means a consortium of one or more LEAs, or the Bureau of Indian Education, and one or more community-based organizations, nonprofit organizations, or other public or private entities.	The Secretary gives priority to projects that are designed to take a systemic evidence-based approach to improving outcomes for underserved students in coordinating efforts with Federal, State, or local agencies, or community-based organizations, that support students, to address community violence prevention and intervention. Absolute Priority 1—Title IA Schoolwide Program Eligibility: applicants must propose to serve two or more full-service community schools eligible for a schoolwide program, as part of a community- or district-wide strategy. Absolute Priority 2—Title IA Schoolwide Program Eligibility and Rural Districts— Small and Rural or Rural and Low-Income. Absolute Priority 3—Capacity Building and Development Grants. Absolute Priority 4—Multi-Local Educational Agency Grants: To meet this priority, applicants must propose projects to implement and sustain full-service community schools in two or more LEAs. Absolute Priority 5—FSCS State Scaling Grants: must include a written commitment of the SEA to participate in the partnership and to sustain the program beyond 2 years after the term of the grant.	$68 million for 40 grants	Open July 13, 2022; Applications Due September 12, 2022	https://oese.ed.gov/offices/office-of-discretionary-grants-support-services/school-choice-improvement-programs/full-service-community-schools-program-fscs/
